SAGEBRUSH OCCURRENCES

What Nevada Papers Say About Happenings in This State.

Superintendent Allen of the Carson Indian school has received instructions to make improvements in the water supply at the school for domestic and irrigating purposes.

The town of Golconda at the present time is resting in the lull of McKinley prosperity. Golconda is just between the ebb and flow. It is the strongest Republican precinct in the State and enjoys as little of Emperor William's prosperity as any place in Nevada. Hanna has evidently overlooked a bet.

The Carson Appeal says Senator T. J. Beil of Nye county will perhaps be chosen President pro tem of the Nevada Senate at the next session.

The main shaft on the DeLamar mines is down 1,500 feet and a tunnel is in 3,100 feet. Steam and electricity are used to run thirteen Griffin mills and a 300-ton cyanide plant. The men now employed number 225.

Considerable real estate is changing hands in Elko and throughout the county. The purchase price in every instance makes the assessed valuation of the property look very small.—Independent.

James Gates died at Lovelock yesterday. His death was due to typhoid fever. Deceased was a well known business man of Lovelock, where he has lived for several years.

WEATHER PROPHECY

The Journal's Copyrighted Guess at Meteorological Conditions.

St. Joseph, Mo., Dec. 15.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of storm wave to cross continent 17 to 21; warm wave 16 to 20, cool wave 19 to 23.

Storm wave will reach Pacific coast about 21, cross west of Rockies by close of 22, great central valleys 23 to 25, Eastern States 26.

Warm wave will cross west of Rockies about 21, great central valleys 23, Eastern States 25. Cool wave will cross west of Rockies about 24, great central valleys 26, Eastern States 28.

The high temperature wave, due on meridian 90 about 24, will cause a remarkably sudden rise and the storm wave will quickly cross the continent, following which the cool wave will not be severe.

Crane Carried His Satchel.

Arthur A. Leeds of Tioga met Stephen Crane once under circumstances which showed how little the novelist traded upon the fame that came to him. Mr. Leeds got off a train at Delaware Water Gap. The only man on the platform was humped up against the side of the depot gazing into space. He looked like a farmer's boy. His trousers were baggy, his coat battered and his hat rowdy.

"Say, carry this stuff to the hotel for me, will you?" asked Mr. Leeds. The man grasped the bags and started in the wake of Mr. Leeds toward the hotel.

When the hotel was reached, Mr. Leeds lost sight of his porter for a few minutes while he greeted friends. Looking around for his baggage, he saw the man who had packed it to the hotel sitting on the piazza with his legs on the railing. He was reading a book.

"Who's that man?" asked Mr. Leeds. "Oh, that's Stephen Crane," some one said. The next day Crane left the place before Mr. Leeds had an opportunity for explanations.—Philadelphia North American.

The Last Chinese Actress.

Many visitors to the Celestial kingdom have noted the absence of women from the stage. All the roles in a Chinese play are taken by men. This singular custom is traced back to a woman's whim. The Emperor Yung Tsching married an actress at the beginning of the eighteenth century, when women were allowed on the stage. The emperor died and the empress dowager ruled the country for her son, the Prince Kim Sung.

To satisfy her vanity this shrewd and most peculiar woman issued a decree in the year 1738 forbidding, under penalty of instant death by the sword of the executioner, any member of her sex to appear on the Chinese stage. "After me, no one," said the empress dowager, and since her day no woman within the reach of Chinese law has dared to test the strength of her decree. In Hongkong (a British colony) women have played in Chinese theaters, but never as yet, we believe, in San Francisco.

The Legislature will convene next month to do such work as the State may require to be done to meet a continued system of government for the benefit of the people of the commonwealth. When much of the work of legislative bodies that have convened and adjourned in the past is taken into consideration to arrive at a probable result of the work of the approaching session, there is not much to encourage the citizen respecting much needed relief to place the State in a more prosperous condition.

There has been continued effort for the last sixteen or twenty years to secure a constitutional convention to meet the financial and other relations of the State to its diminished population, but all efforts to secure a convention have been defeated. It is not necessary at this time to discuss the causes operating to influence a defeat of any effort made by the people to secure a convention, but it may in the future become necessary to direct public attention to these causes.

Will the next Legislature bring its intelligence to a focus on the question and pass the necessary call for a convention? It is just to the members who will compose the body which will have good or evil for the State in their keeping, to say that the writer has confidence sufficient in the good intentions of the members-elect to believe that they will do whatever is for the best to secure a change from the old and dead order of things that has prevailed too long for the good of the people, and that they will continue the effort to secure a convention.

There are other matters which demand attention and work favorable to the people, which will receive notice through the columns of the JOURNAL before the body convenes to do its work. It may not be out of place at this time to direct attention to the fact that a certain amount of sound sense, of intelligent activity and practical efficiency is required by any community in a governing body. Whatever more than the certain amount required of these attributes to make a thorough governing body that can be brought into active use by the members, the better will be the showing the work of the body will make when it is closed.

When the necessary ability and influence of a practical kind are wanting in men who have official posts of power, the intelligent part of the people are disappointed and become disgusted over weakness that prevails where strength should be present. One among the chief causes there are for a diminished population in the State has been the absence of natural and acquired qualifications in a majority of the members of legislatures that have convened in the State.

Political conditions in the State have been such that majorities in our legislatures have been returned whose moral qualifications were not of the kind demanded to properly legislate for a people dependent upon business industry for a support. It is believed by the better class of the people that there is a moral standard represented in a majority of the members lately elected, superior to anything possessed by a majority of any legislature in the State from its beginning. It should be hoped that the belief entertained will be made a fact by the members who will compose the next Legislature in Nevada.

SIXTY-FIVE TO EIGHTEEN.

A special dispatch to the JOURNAL yesterday morning gave the vote upon the Davis Amendment to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, which was evidence that public sentiment expressed during the campaign upon the subject of the treaty and the amendment has had effect upon the Senatorial mind. The vote was much larger than was anticipated by its friends, sixty-five to eighteen was not expected by any one who favored it from the time it was introduced at the last session. Strange as it may appear, it is none the less true that Mr. Hanna has not been heard from for some time. At the opening of the present session and for some days thereafter the street car statesman and the usual treaty, was ubiquitous. He seems to have taken a seat with Mr. Hay for the present, who is in need of the society of his friends. They will probably explain the action of the Senate by informing the Secretary that the chief cause for the defeat of the original treaty lies in Nebraska. Mr. Bryan was defeated but the Democracy has triumphed over imperialism in the first round after Bryan's defeat by knocking it out in a fair battle, which means that it is admitted the Democracy was right on the issue of imperialism. There will be more admissions of the same kind before the close of the next term of McKinley's administration, or there will be talk about drum and fife music in the United States—such as was heard in the colonies at Bunker Hill.

Christmas Exercises.

An interesting program was rendered yesterday afternoon by the sixth and seventh grades in their rooms in the high school building. The exercises consisted of music and recitations. Afterwards there was a meeting of parents. It was addressed by Principal Bray.

The Strike in the C. and C.

In conversation with a representative of the Report, H. Zadig, after a visit to the lower levels of the Con. Virginia mine, stated that he had had the privilege of inspecting the ore find on the 1950 level and it was all that had been represented, and more, too. The ledge was over three feet wide, the discovery was in virgin ground and the rock of a very high grade. He did not know the exact value of the rock per ton, but had no hesitation in saying that would assay up in the thousands.

Mr. Zadig said also that there was about four feet of very rich ore on the 11th floor above the 1950, and in reply to a question said it was quite possible that this ore and the find on the floor of the 1950 are one and the same body of ore.

Truckee Trout Disappearing.

The fishing industry along the Truckee river is a source of great income. During the open season thousands of dollars' worth of trout are shipped over the mountains every month.

J. P. Merrill has furnished the JOURNAL with figures on the fishing industry from Verdi. The Reno and Washoe figures will be received in a few days and the JOURNAL will be able to prove that the trout in the river are diminishing rapidly in size and number every year. These figures will evidence that illegal taking of fish must be prohibited and the river stocked or trout fishing will soon cease to be an industry along the Truckee.

Filthy Condition of the Truckee.

Above Verdi the bottom of the Truckee river has become coated with slime from the paper mill. When the anchor ice runs this winter the slime will be carried down stream.

The noxious odors from this decaying and unhealthful matter will not be noticeable until the season of low water, but it nothing is done before that time, there will doubtless be considerable sickness in this city. Evaporation tanks would remedy this evil.

Pressure should be brought to bear upon the Floriston Pulp & Paper Co. to compel them to cease turning their slime into the river.

No Telegraphic This Morning.

The JOURNAL received no telegraphic dispatches last night. Not only the telegraph but the telephone lines are down between Reno and San Francisco, owing to the storm. Lots of trouble was also encountered on the Sunset company's local exchange. Virginia, Carson and Truckee could be reached but that was about the limit of the lines. Nearly 150 phones were knocked out by crossed wires.

News of Nevada's Leading Industry Clipped From Exchanges.

A body of ore has been struck in the Wilson mine, in Pine Grove, on the lower level, and averages about three feet in width.

Andrew Ghigerri, a young man who has been employed for some time past at the Robust mine near Ely, fell forty feet down the shaft last Tuesday afternoon and escaped serious injury.

Several leases have been let at Tonipha to Silver Peak residents, and all are in a flurry preparing to go out there to work. They say there is enough in sight to pay big. Assays go very high.

The day and night shifts at the Gould & Curry have been laid off, owing to the contemplated change in the management of the mine. The accumulation of rock on hand will be crushed and a clean up made.

H. T. Benson of Denver and O. L. Hersh of Silver, Montana, have had some men taking out ore from the Homestake mine in Silver Peak, which they have bonded, and intend having a mill test made of 25 or 30 tons of ore.

Tonopah, the new mining camp in Southern Esmeralda county, is experiencing a big boom. Many miners from Sodaville and Silver Peak have gone to the new diggings as they are the richest discoveries in Nevada in some years.

Electricity was substituted for steam power at the Chollar carpenter shop yesterday and the saws worked with the utmost smoothness. The electrical machinery has been ordered for the Nevada mill and is expected to arrive here by January 1st.—Chronicle.

What Nevada Papers Say About Happenings in This State.

The Mary mine at Silver Peak is looking well. Ten men are employed. John W. Easley, who had a large circle of friends in Nevada and Utah, died of heart failure last week at Houston, Idaho. He leaves a wife, a daughter and a son.

Mrs. Irene Green, a former resident of Hawthorne, died in San Francisco Monday of consumption. Deceased leaves a two-year-old daughter. She was 24 years of age.—Bulletin.

A. Iadra has just sold 2,500 head of sheep to J. Cotton, the Western Meat Co.'s buyer. The sheep have been feeding at Lovelock and are in prime condition for the market. The price paid was $5 per head.—Silver State.

There are in the neighborhood of 70,000 sheep held in the vicinity of Fish Creek, eighteen miles south of Eureka, which the owners cannot move south on account of the lack of water, and unless a snowfall occurs in the near future the loss is certain to be heavy.

Talismans in China.

The belief in the potency of charms, etc., is very widespread among the lower class Chinese and the Shans in parts of Yunnan. The latter in particular have all kinds of amulets to ward off evil, the gem of their collection being one which confers invulnerability on the wearer. This useful quality may also be obtained, I was informed, by undergoing a very painful process of tattooing. During my trip I was shown a "dragon's nest," which looked like a bit of the horsehair stuffing from a foreign saddle, guaranteed to render the purchaser's house safe from fire, and a "female deer's horn," which would enable the fortunate owner to walk a great distance without fatigue.

Not being a landed proprietor or a professional sprinter, I had no use for these things, and though I entered into negotiations with several people for the talisman which would render me invulnerable none of them was willing to stand the test of western skepticism—a revolver at 30 paces—even though I offered them an enormous sum and a handsome funeral in case of accident.—Geographical Journal.

The First National Convention.

What may be called the first national convention was not held by either of the great parties. It was conducted by what was known as the Anti-Masonic party and was held in Baltimore in September, 1831. Delegates attended from every state (not chosen, however, on a basis of electoral strength), a president and vice president were nominated, and a platform was adopted. The Democrats held their first national convention in Baltimore in May, 1832, 313 delegates being present. As this year, the only contest was over the vice presidency, General Harrison having a walkover for first place. His opponents convened in Washington and named Henry Clay, 17 out of 24 states being represented. Since then nominating conventions have been the rule.

Prospect of a New Railroad.

The Salt Lake Tribune contains the following:
"The extension of the Utah & Pacific building of the new Los Angeles road will bring De Lamar within seventeen miles of railroad communication, and I am sure Captain De Lamar will build a railroad connecting the camp with the through line," said W. W. Stevens a few days ago.
"We use in the camp 7,000 to 8,000 tons of coal per month, to say nothing of the ore and other freight to be hauled. Then a road will develop an immense number of properties in Southern Nevada that cannot be handled until the question of transportation is settled. There is no more trouble about dust at the De Lamar mill. The company provides the men with respirators and bathing facilities, the men take good care of themselves and ventilating apparatus keeps the air clear."

Riding the Goat.

"Rattley-boom-bang-crash!" All sorts and kinds of pandemonium seemed to be reigning in the ceiling of the Justice's court rooms last night. The JOURNAL localizer, who sat talking with the cops, struck for the door, thinking that the house was haunted or so able-bodied earthquake was getting in its work. Leeper, who wears a W. O. W. pin, assured the scribe that it was only a Woodman initiation going on in the lodge room upstairs.

Will some one kindly remove the Bryan and Stevenson sign that adorns the Virginia street ball and hang a fall growler in its stead?
Owing to the storm the ladies of the Baptist church will continue their sale this evening, Saturday. Hot tamales and coffee will be served. All invited.
Anyone having copper ore would do well to correspond with the Reno Smelting & Milling Company. The works will resume operations in a few days.

Hose Wagon Is Greatly Needed.

It is only another case of the cart before the horse, this purchase of a couple of hose reels a score of years before the fire department was given horses to pull them. Last evening the steamer arrived at box 5 several minutes before a belated wagon drove along with a hose reel in tow.
The Reno fire department is up to the average and something beyond that of most towns its size with but this exception.
The hose wagon should precede the engine out of the house and the hose should be laid by time the engine arrives at the fire plug.
Give us a hose wagon and another span of horses, good Messrs. Town Board.

Waters Gush Forth Again.

J. Smith came in from Steamboat last night, bringing news that the springs that ceased flowing after the recent earthquake had burst forth in greater volume than ever.
There is little doubt that Mr. Smith's story is correct, because the steam generated by the boiling water, pent up by the closing of the orifice, would naturally soon find a vent.
For several days the proprietors of the resort have been boring and blasting to open the vent, but nature did the work for them.

Railroad Extension.

Within a year Reno will be in direct railway connection with Eastern Oregon. About the first of March work will begin upon the extension of the Nevada-California-Oregon railway. After leaving the Madeline plains the road will traverse the most fertile portion of north-eastern California.

Pranks Played by the Storm.

The high wind yesterday morning raised the dickens around town. It blew down twenty electric light poles. Electrician Askin gathered together a score of men and had the wire stretched again before the "juice" was turned on. Shortly after dark a heavy wet snow began falling and in a few minutes there was the mischief to pay again. Several live wires dropped and spluttered and flashed. A couple of wires got tangled up on top of the Washoe county bank and the glare was mistaken for a burning building. An alarm was rung in but the services of the firemen were not needed. There was another display of fireworks caused by a wire that fell in front of Pedercini's saloon.
The wind knocked signboards galley west and one of Wieland's beer signs blew across the street in front of a millinery store.
Jack Murray's cineograph house at the corner of Second and Virginia streets was turned upside down. The skylight blew off Oscar J. Smith's house and was demolished.

Reno Wheelmen Enjoy Themselves.

There were no stiff formalities about the Reno Wheelmen's party last night. Everybody did his best to make everybody else enjoy himself and the result was a jolly evening. About thirty-five couples were present.
The floor had been put in perfect condition and the re-arrangement of the platform and gymnastic apparatus made the hall seem much more commodious.
Charles Coffin officiated as floor director. The music was furnished by the Reno orchestra.
At midnight tamales and coffee were served.

Not Sentenced.

When M. A. Ballard appeared for sentence yesterday morning motion was made for a new trial and sentence was deferred.
LATER—M. A. Ballard has been sentenced to fifteen months imprisonment.
